

Dr. N. Shantha Naik

MA PhD

Professor

Email: akampan2000@gmail.com

Dr. N. Shantha Naik. Taught at the undergraduate level at Maharaja's College, University Of Mysore for ten years and also as a experience of working at AIR Karwar. Joined Vijayanagara Sri Krishna Devaraya University Ballari in 2012, as Associate Professor. Specialized in linguistics and American literature and also literature in Indian English for his PhD from Karnataka University, Dharward. A comparative Study of the Novels of Shashi Deshpande and M. K. Indira: A Social and Cultural Perspectives. 2009, Teaching English Language through literature, 2010. Women psyche in world women novel list 2012. Dalit Literature our response 2012, Interference of Regional Languages Phonology in Indian English Learners, 2012 Retrospection and Introspection of Dalit Literature 2013. Approach and re approach to English literature, 2017. Worked as NSS Co- Coordinator, Dean Student Welfare, Cultural Co- Coordinator, Director Prasara, Director Sports. He worked as Chairman of second language English Text Book Review Committee, for Karnataka Text Book Society. He completed major research project funded by ICSSR, New Delhi. He is also a good translator and creative writer. His novel 'Goarmati-An Un Ending Journey' and the play 'The Banjara Warrior' also published in English language.